THE N. C. Daily News states that H. E. Li HAN-CHANG has at last started for Yuman, vid the Tung-ting Lake, Something wi therefore, after all, be done before Christmas. What that something will be is, however quite another question. Probably when the British Commissioners arrive they will find that it has been so nicely arranged that everybody there will be proved perfectly innocent, and that the real culprits have escaped out of the reach of Chinese and British justice alike. In fact they will, it is to be feared, make but one discovery, namely, that they have had their journey for nothing. In the immediate authors of the outrage and murders should, however, thus for the time escape the consequences of their villainy and treachery, it is sincerely to be hoped that the British Minister-will insist upon every pos sible effort being made to re-capture them together with an ample indemnity and a safe passage for the next Expedition. The Chinese Government must be taught that nothing is to be gained in the long run by playing us false. The telegram just received, and published in another column, has a good deal of significance. Mr. WADE is evidently by no means assured of the good faith of the Chinese Government.

Ir is a pity that newspaper correspondents will thoughtlessly persist in giving currency to vague rumours in such a manner as to invest them with an appearance of probabi lity. Some rumours are harmless, no doubt but in the majority of instances they are more or less alarming. They would not of course be worth inventing or circula-Orders for Copies may be sent to the Daily | ting unless they were likely in some way to create a sensation. Probably it is this circumstance that leads to the fabrication of so many reports which have little if any foundation in fact. The canard originated by the Times' correspondent at Shanghai is of the kind most calculated to do mischief. Political hoaves are the worst of all; for they are slipped scross to the Artillery Barracks. H apt to cause wrong impressions which may lead to regrettable results before any chance of contradiction has occurred. The report in question was telegraphed to England, and some time will most probably elapse before it will be controverted. The Chinese Government Messrs. Lane, Chawford & Co. have never had any intention of sending an Embassy to England in reference to the murder of the late Mr. MARGARY, and there seems little doubt that the Times' corresponreport, and, without taking any pains to verify it or even ascertain its probability, is not likely that, even if such a thing had been suggested, Mr. WADE would have supported the proposal. Its result would be to delay the settlement of the question, and it would almost necessitate Mr. Wane's accom-E. It comprised only four guns mounted side by side, but the least of them could have sent a projectile clean through the iron plating of any foreign man-of-war, now affoat, not excepting the new German ironolads the Kaiser and the Deutschland. The four gons included one of 35 tone which has acquired by the French Government in connection with lame under the sobriquet of "the Woolwich Intent, and which fires a 700-pounder projectile, two 25-ton guys, taking 500 shot. and shell, and one 18-top gun capable of firing 400 pounder projectiles weapons were fitted as casemate gons, forming a heavy land battery, and the largest of all was three smaller ones. It was to test this bydrautary of State for War and the other distinguished growing heavier every day, the possibility of working them by manual labour obviously secomes more and more remote. Already we have a large number of gaus several tons heavier than "the Woolwich Infant," and before the end of the present month it is anticipated that the monster 81-ton weapon will be completed at Woolwich. In these circumstances, it is almost indispensable that we should have some other assistance in working heavy guns than that afforded by the gunners themselves, the labour of leading and training being were difficult from the fact that it is with muzzleoaders, and not breech-loaders, that we have to deal. Both the Russian and German military attachés must bave been especially interested on this account with what they gaw, for the artillery employed by those system. It is gratifying to hear that our fficers were well satisfied with the working of the gane, and with the practice to which they were subjected before so critical an audience; and if we could only succeed by means of a practical trial in proving the inperiority of heavy muzzleloaders on the score of handiness on board ship, we might be quite content with the artillery we have just now.

A correspondent writes to the Madras Mail: -While going across a bit of country seldom travelled, I fancy, by Europeane, on an open waste of high ground, with here and there a we shall be sent to New Caledonia. This con. The one I killed was the largest of the three.
